HENRY.

Yes, yes, fair friend, I freely grant, the charm in Henry's eyes I see, - - - But while I gaze I something want, I want those eyes to gaze on me; - - And let me own in Henry's heart that envy's self no guile can see, Yet if I may a wish impart, I wish that heart may sigh for n.e. And let me own in Henry's heart, that envy's self no guile can see, - - But if I may a wish impart, I wish that heart to sigh for me, - - - to sigh for me, - - - to sigh for me.

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, in a cursive script.

Main body of handwritten text, consisting of several lines of cursive script. The text is somewhat faded and difficult to decipher.

Lower section of handwritten text, continuing the cursive script. This area shows more significant staining and wear on the paper.
